UNO, DOS, TRES...¡YA!

Following a group of cartoon characters, this method aims to make young students feel positive toward learning Spanish. "¡Uno, dos, tres...ya!" is based on multisensorial language acquisition where TPR (Total Physical Response) activities play a key role. Using games, rhymes, songs and many easy-to-do and cut-out activities, this method is attuned to the need to entertain younger children when teaching. Interactive and well presented, this series moves at a pace that should be comfortable for most young learners as it develops vocabulary that is easy to remember and applicable to your students' life. The text comes with an audio download, and a box of resources for teachers comprising 3 posters and 89 full colour flashcards is available.
